What makes platforms like OnlyFans unique is not just that you are making your own content but that you are offering a unique connection between you and your subscribers. Anyone can make videos. It's the personal experience that makes OnlyFans unique. If men just wanted to look at naked girls, they would go subscribe to sites like Brazzers. What they want is to feel like you are a real person they are connecting with on a personal level. It's that intimacy that you need to work on with your subscribers. It's not just about the content.
